2. CITATIONS AND EXPLANATIONS

Claims 1-14 meet the criteria set out in PCT Article 33(2)-(3), because the prior art does not teach or fairly suggest because the applicant has claimed a novel method of reducing periodic earnings volatility associated with a hedged exposure by accounting for an exposure and related hedging by designating a portion of the value of the exposure as being hedged by the hedging instrument based on a price sensitivity of the hedging with respect to changes in market value of an underlying instrument, redesignating the portion of the exposure based on that changed price sensitivity, with the hedging instrument comprising a first and a second part such that changes in the value of the first part substantially offsets changes in the exposure, and redesignating the portion of the first part such that the remainder of the first part offsets the delta of the second part.
